Date of Incident:	March 14 th , 2012
Time of Incident:	8:30 p.m.
Location of Incident:	5155 W. Lake Street
Date of COPA Notification:	March 14 th , 2012
Time of COPA Notification:	9:08 p.m.

On March 14, 2012, at approximately 8:30 p.m., the Office of Emergency Management and Communications (OEMC) received a 911 call of a robbery in progress at Lake Street and Laramie Avenue. Several officers responded to the scene of the robbery and during the course of their police action, a total of five officers discharged their service weapons during three separate rounds of fire against three individuals involved in the robbery and the victim of the robbery. The incident began when Tactical Officers Juan Duran, Rolando Ruiz, Juan Cifuentes, and Calvin Jones, all of them assigned to the 15th District, responded to the call and stopped their unmarked Tahoe in front of Tom's Food & Liquors (Tom's) on the southwest corner of Lake and Laramie, believing Tom's was the location of the robbery. Upon arriving, an unknown black male standing in front of Tom's told the officers that the activity was "Across the street, at the beauty store." Officer Ruiz then drove south on Laramie and parked the Tahoe on the east side of Laramie, just south of a currency exchange located on the southeast corner of the intersection.² Officer Duran exited the front passenger seat of the Tahoe and was the first to approach the beauty store. Officer Duran did so by walking east along the front of the currency exchange. Officers Ruiz, Cifuentes, and Jones exited the Tahoe and followed Officer Duran's path. As Officer Duran passed the front of the currency exchange, [REDACTED] exited the front door of the beauty supply store and ran east along the front of the daycare center, scaled a fence located at the far east of the strip mall and then ran south through an empty lot. Officer Duran immediately chased after [REDACTED]

First Round of Gunfire by Officer

Before Officers Ruiz, Cifuentes, and Jones could join the chase, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] exited the beauty supply store and ran in a northeast direction in front of the officers and into the strip mall's parking lot. As [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] passed by the officers, Officer Ruiz immediately saw that [REDACTED] was holding a handgun and yelled, "Gun! Gun!" According to the officers, at that moment, [REDACTED] turned toward the officers and pointed his gun at them. Officers Ruiz, Cifuentes, and Jones, whose weapons were already drawn, discharged their firearms multiple times at [REDACTED] stumbled, turned and continued to run northeast through the parking lot as the officers repeatedly ordered him to drop his firearm. [REDACTED] collapsed just past the northeast corner of the parking lot, near the stairs leading to the Green Line Lake Street CTA platform. [REDACTED] sustained multiple gunshot wounds. [REDACTED] continued running east on Lake St. as the officers placed [REDACTED] into custody. A short time later [REDACTED] was found hiding in a nearby backyard; his hands were injured from scaling a barb wire fence.

Second Round of Gunfire by Officers

At about the same time Officers Miguel Torres and Thomas Petrenko arrived and parked their marked Tahoe facing south on Laramie, near the southeast corner of the intersection. Officers Torres and Petrenko heard gunshots and saw Officers Ruiz, Cervantes, and Jones running through the parking lot. As Officers Torres and Petrenko followed Officers Ruiz, Cervantes, and Jones, [REDACTED] now known to be one of the owners of the beauty supply store, exited the store holding a firearm in his hands. Officers Torres and Petrenko discharged their firearms at [REDACTED] who staggered back into the beauty supply store. [REDACTED] sustained multiple gunshot wounds. Two firearms were recovered on the sidewalk near the door of the beauty supply store.

Third Round of Gunfire by Officers

After Officers Torres and Petrenko discharged their firearms at [REDACTED] scaled the same fence into the original parking lot followed by Officer Duran. [REDACTED] then ran in a northwest direction, toward the intersection of Lake and Laramie. Officer Duran yelled, "Stop him! Stop him! Get him!" Officer Petrenko chased [REDACTED] toward the intersection and heard him yell, "I didn't do nothing!" Officer Petrenko saw [REDACTED] move his hands under his shirt. Officer Petrenko yelled, "Show your hands!" Officer Petrenko stated that [REDACTED] failed to follow all verbal direction given by him and the other officers. Officer Petrenko then discharged his firearm at [REDACTED] sustained a gunshot wound to his left thigh.

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were identified and arrested for the robbery of the B&B Beauty Supply Store.

V. INVESTIGATION³

a. Interviews

In a statement to Detective Taraskiewicz on March 14, 2012, ██████ stated that he agreed to help his friend ██████⁵ and two other unknown male black subjects to rob the beauty supply store. ██████ agreed to be the look-out in exchange for a portion of the proceeds. According to ██████ he was to remain outside the store while the others went inside to rob it. As he stood waiting for his friends who were inside to conduct the robbery, ██████ heard sirens and ran to the front door of the store to warn the others that the police were coming. When ██████ reached the door he saw the others already exiting the store. ██████ stated that he ran towards Lake Street, where the police shot him.

In a statement to IPRA on October 11, 2012, ██████ stated he was drinking alcohol with ██████ and an unknown person when they decided to rob the B&B Beauty Supply Store. ██████ stated that he was armed with a handgun. ██████ added that either ██████ or ██████ also had a handgun when they entered the beauty supply store, but he could not remember who. ██████ stated that they were in the store for approximately two minutes with two employees (now known as ██████ and ██████) when the police pulled up outside. According to ██████ he ran out of the store first after which ██████ immediately heard several gunshots. ██████ dropped his gun on the floor before running out the front door into the parking lot. According to ██████ he intended to retrieve ██████ gun from the floor and surrender to the police, but ██████ picked it up first. ██████ stated that he ran out of the store and the police immediately began shooting at him. ██████ stated that he stopped running, dropped his gun to the ground, and raised his hands up. When the police stopped shooting they ran toward him. ██████ stated that he then ran east to get away and that he also saw ██████ running from the police. As he ran he heard gunshots, felt pain⁷ and fell to the ground, realizing he had been shot. ██████ stated that, after he fell, he saw ██████ running from the store being chased by the police. ██████ was taken into custody and transported to the hospital.

In separate statements to Detectives Gillespie and Thompson on March 14, 2012 and to IPRA on October 11, 2012, ██████ stated that, at the time of the incident, he was walking alone through a parking lot near Lake and Laramie when he saw four unknown male subjects wearing bandanas exit a nearby beauty supply store and run toward him. ██████ then heard gunshots and saw the police. ██████ stated that he ran, scaled a barbed-wire fence, and hid in a car lot for twenty or thirty minutes. ██████ stated that the owner of the car lot, who was on the roof of his shop, pointed him out to the police and he was taken into custody. ██████ stated that he sustained lacerations to his hands and arms from the barbed-wire fence. ██████ denied being in the beauty supply store or attempting to rob it.

One of the guns was dropped inside the store and the other outside the store. ██████████ stated that ██████████ did not pick up either of the guns.

In his deposition in civil case 13-CV-01851 on June 30, 2014, ██████████ stated that he was near the back of the store when someone grabbed him from behind and forced him to the floor. ██████████ stated that the same person pointed a silver handgun at his head. An unknown individual turned off the store's electricity during the robbery. ██████████ stated that he never heard any gunshots. ██████████ also stated that the only gun he saw was the silver one that the unknown person pointed at him. ██████████ stood up when he heard ██████████ screaming, "Oh, my leg, my leg, my leg!"¹³ ██████████ went to ██████████ and saw him lying on the floor near the register. No one else was in the store. ██████████ attempted to dial 911 but could not because he was too nervous. ██████████ exited the store through the front door and saw police in the parking lot. ██████████ asked the officers for help and they called for an ambulance.

In an interview with IPRA on March 15, 2012, witness ██████████ stated that, at the time of the incident, she worked at Seasoned & Salt restaurant¹⁵ which is located at 344 N. Laramie, across the street from where the incident occurred. The Police Observation Devices³⁶ (PODs) recordings from PODs #400 and #307 showed several police vehicles and ambulances arrive at the location of incident. The PODs did not record any further portion of the incident relative to this investigation.

The recording from the Chicago Transit Authority's Green Line Security Camera³⁷, located on Laramie Avenue in a fixed position pointed north towards Lake Street, showed that on March 14, 2012, at approximately 2033 hours and 50 seconds, a crowd of people are walking northbound on Laramie. Once they approach the northeast corner of Lake St. and Laramie Ave., the crowd runs northbound on Laramie. At approximately 2034 hours and 20 seconds, a black male subject (now known to be [REDACTED]) runs northwest through the intersection followed by five police officers. During the chase, [REDACTED] appears to look back at the officers while running. One of the officers, with his weapon in hand and arm extended towards [REDACTED] appears to shoot at [REDACTED] as the chasing officers slow to a stop. Two officers involved in the chase turn around and run in the opposite direction. The remainder of the recording depicts numerous CPD and CFD vehicles arriving at the location of incident. The camera's view is partially obstructed by a support pillar for the CTA Green Line platform.

VI. ANALYSIS

A Chicago Police Officer's use of deadly force is governed by: Chicago Police Department's Policy regarding the use of deadly force, Illinois state statutory law, and applicable standards within the United States Constitution. Based on the totality of the circumstances, the involved officers were in compliance with Chicago Police Department policy in using deadly force because it was reasonable for them to believe that they were in imminent danger of death or great bodily harm, given they had arrived on the scene of an armed robbery and were confronted with multiple subject pointing firearms at them.

A. Applicable Rules and Law

1. Chicago Police Department General Order

According to the Chicago Police Department's General Order 02-08-03, Section III, A: A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes that such force is necessary:

1. to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person, or;
2. to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested:
 - a. has committed or has attempted to commit a forcible felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm;
 - b. is attempting to escape by use of a dead weapon or;
 - c. otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

⁶¹ Attachment 138.

2. Illinois and United States Case Law

An officer's use of deadly force is a seizure within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment. When applying the Constitutional standard to a Fourth Amendment analysis, the question is whether the officer's actions are objectively reasonable in light of the facts and circumstances confronting them. Determinations regarding the potential use of excessive force in the course of an arrest, investigatory stop, or other seizure are properly analyzed under the Fourth Amendment's objective reasonableness standard. The question is whether the officer's actions are objectively reasonable in light of the facts and circumstances confronting them, without regard to their underlying intent or motivation. Graham v. Connor, 490 U.S. 386, 397 (1989); see Estate of Phillips v. City of Milwaukee, 123 F.3d 586, 592 (7th Cir. 2003). The following factors are instructive in making the determination of whether an officer's use of force is reasonable: (1) "the severity of the crime at issue;" (2) "whether the suspect poses an immediate threat to the safety of the officers or others;" and (3) "whether he is actively resisting arrest or attempting to evade arrest by flight." Graham, 490 U.S. at 396 (citing Tennessee v. Garner, 471 U.S. 1, 8-9 (1985)). The analysis of the reasonableness of an officer's actions must be grounded in the perspective of "a reasonable officer on the scene, rather than with the 20/20 vision of hindsight" and "allow for the fact that police officers are often forced to make split-second judgments – in circumstances that are tense, uncertain, and rapidly evolving – about the amount of force that is necessary in a particular situation." Plumhoff v. Rickard, 134 S. Ct. 2012 (2014) (internal quotations and citation omitted). Consequently, "when an officer believes that a suspect's actions [place] him, his partner, or those in the immediate vicinity in imminent danger of death or serious bodily injury, the officer can reasonably exercise the use of deadly force." Muhammed v. City of Chicago, 316 F.3d 380, 383 (7th Cir. 2002) (quoting Sherrod v. Berry, 856 F.2d 802, 805 (7th Cir. 1988) (en banc) (omitting emphasis)). Finally, the analysis must take into account the totality of the circumstances confronting the officer, rather than just one or two factors. Plumhoff, 134 S. Ct. at 2020; see also Scott v. Edinburg, 346 F.3d 752, 756 (7th Cir. 2003).

3. Illinois Statutory Law

Chicago Police officers are bound by the legal standard in Illinois regarding the use of deadly force, as codified in Illinois State Statute 720 ILCS 5/7-5. The pertinent portion of the statute states that:

...a peace officer, or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him, need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest. However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person...

B. Analysis of the Actions of the Involved Officers

In this case, based on the totality of the circumstances, COPA finds that the involved officers' use of deadly force was within policy. Based on the available evidence, including witness statements, video evidence, and forensic evidence, COPA finds that officers arrived on the scene of an armed robbery to find multiple subjects with handguns who were not complying with lawful orders to drop the weapons. In response, the officers deployed deadly force.

Two of the subjects claimed that they had not done anything to cause the officers to fire at them, but COPA has determined that the subjects gave conflicting accounts of the incident. In his statement to IPRA, [REDACTED] stated that he helped [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] rob the beauty supply store. [REDACTED] also admitted that he and [REDACTED] were armed with handguns when they entered the store. [REDACTED] further stated that he saw [REDACTED] drop his gun to the floor and run out of the store, and that [REDACTED] picked it up. [REDACTED] stated that he exited the store still holding his handgun, and only dropped it after the police started shooting at him. However, in his statement to detectives eight months earlier, [REDACTED] stated that he only acted as a lookout while [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] robbed the beauty supply store. [REDACTED] stated that he never entered the store, and ran away when the police arrived. Additionally, in separate statements to IPRA and detectives, [REDACTED] denied participating in the robbery. [REDACTED] stated that he was only walking through the parking lot when the police arrived. [REDACTED] stated that he ran when he heard gunshots and sustained his lacerations when he attempted to scale a fence topped with barbed wire. In direct contrast to [REDACTED] statement to detectives, and both of [REDACTED] statements, the security recording from inside the B&B Beauty Supply Store showed [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] armed with handguns prior to police arrival. Thus, despite the fact that the subjects denied that they had engaged in any activity that would cause the officers to utilize deadly force, COPA finds that the subjects lack credibility.

A third subject, [REDACTED] made similar claims but refused to cooperate with IPRA's investigation. However, he did speak with detectives, during which he stated that although he chased the offenders out of his store, he never picked up a gun. [REDACTED] denied handling any of the offenders' dropped guns. But in his deposition two and a half years later, [REDACTED] stated that he exited the store after the three offenders, saw a handgun on the sidewalk directly in front of the store's entrance, and picked it up. [REDACTED] stated he was then shot, and at the time he did not know who was shooting at him. In contrast, in his civil suit, [REDACTED] stated that he followed the offenders out of his store and picked up one of the guns dropped by the offenders because he feared they would return and harm him, but then he dropped it before the police shot him. [REDACTED] also stated that none of the offenders posed a threat to any of the police officers because the offenders had already dropped their guns before they fled, but in his civil suit he reported the only reason he picked up one of the offenders' discarded guns was because of the threat the offenders posed to him. As with the inconsistencies with the accounts of [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] changing version of events undermines his credibility.

Other independent witnesses also supported the statements of the officers. Store employee [REDACTED] [REDACTED] stated that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] ran out of the store pointing guns at the police and that the police shot at them. [REDACTED] stated that [REDACTED] was accidentally shot at that time. Civilian witness [REDACTED] was at his workplace when he saw [REDACTED] pointing an object toward the police around the same time he heard gunshots and saw muzzle flashes.

While it is notable that none of the subjects actually fired their weapons at the officers, this does not affect the analysis. Courts, in this jurisdiction and across the country, have repeatedly and broadly accepted the notion that officers are not required to wait to act until an armed person actually uses deadly force against the officer. Montoute v. Carr, 114 F.3d 181, 185 (11th Cir. 1997) (“... an officer is not required to wait until an armed and dangerous felon has drawn a bead on the officer or others before using deadly force”); see also Leong v. City of Detroit, 151 F.supp.2d 858 (E.D.Mich. 2001), holding that regardless of whether the suspect actually pointed his gun at the officers, or instead remained with his back turned, he was quite capable of leveling the weapon at an officer or a bystander and inflicting severe injury or death in an instant, and therefore the use of deadly force was permitted; see also Anderson v. Russell, 247 F.3d 125 (4th Cir. 2001), holding that an officer does not have to wait until a gun is pointed at the officer before the officer is entitled to take action; see also Long v. Slaton, 508 F.3d 576, 581 (11th Cir. 2007), (“Even if we accept that the threat posed by Long to Deputy Slaton was not immediate in that the cruiser was not moving toward Slaton when shots were fired, the law does not require officers in a tense and dangerous situation to wait until the moment a suspect uses a deadly weapon to act to stop the suspect.”)

Finally, it should be noted that while [REDACTED] was shot by the responding officers, he was not part of the group that had committed the armed robbery, and in fact he was one of the victims of the robbery. While this is unfortunate, it does not affect COPA’s analysis. When the responding officers arrived on scene, the only information they had was that there had been an armed robbery by multiple suspects. After [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] exited the store, [REDACTED] had picked up a gun dropped by one of the suspects inside the darkened store, and had then proceeded out the door onto the sidewalk, where he was confronted by the police officers. However, the officers had no way to know that [REDACTED] was not one of the robbery suspects; all they saw was another male subject emerge from the shop holding a handgun and pointing it in the direction of the officers. [REDACTED] then failed to drop the weapon when ordered to do so, and he was subsequently shot by officers. The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals addressed a similar situation in Ford v. Childers, where they noted that officers may reasonably rely on appearances when assessing potentially dangerous situations, even if those reliances are later determined to be erroneous. In that case, an officer responding to a call of an armed bank robbery arrived to observe a masked individual standing in the bank with his arm extended toward several people whose arms were raised above their heads; the officer later saw the suspect fleeing the bank carrying a bag in his hand. In that case, the court held that even though the officer did not actually see a weapon in the suspect’s hand, due to a post obscuring the suspect’s hand, “...given the information he possessed at that particular time and the observations he made, Childers reasonably concluded that the suspect was armed and dangerous. ... [A] reasonable belief that danger exists may be formed by a reliance on appearances.” Ford v. Childers, 855 F.2d 1271, 1275-76 (7th Cir. 1988), citing Davis v. Freels, 583 F.2d 337, 341 (7th Cir. 1978). As the court went on to note, “...no right is guaranteed by federal law that one will be free from circumstances where he will be endangered by the misinterpretation of his acts.”⁶²

In this case, COPA finds that, by a preponderance of the evidence, it is likely that the officers fired their weapons in response to the perceived threat of the subjects pointing their weapons at the officers and ignoring commands to drop their weapons. The involved officers provided consistent and corroborative accounts of the incident, that [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] entered the B&B Beauty Supply Store, armed with handguns and attempted to rob it. As they exited the darkened store they were armed with handguns. The offenders failed to comply with the officers' commands, and fearing for their safety the officers discharged their firearms. Additionally, Officer Cifuentes stated that he discharged his firearm at [REDACTED] as [REDACTED] ran from the store holding, and pointing, a firearm at him, but once [REDACTED] was taken into custody it was discovered that he was not armed. Subsequently, [REDACTED] firearm was found on the ground in front of the store, indicating that he dropped it as he ran from the store. Officer Cifuentes stated that he never saw [REDACTED] drop his gun, and taking the totality of the circumstances into account; that [REDACTED] was part of a group that had just committed a forcible felony, in threatening to use physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm by using a firearm in the commission of the robbery. Furthermore, [REDACTED] was non-compliant with the officers in that he did not surrender or cease his actions, but instead continued his attempt to defeat his arrest by fleeing. The involved officers also stated that [REDACTED] was observed standing in the doorway of the store holding a gun when he was subsequently shot by the responding officers.

Therefore, the involved officers' use of deadly force against the subjects was objectively reasonable, and thus, WITHIN the policy of the Chicago Police Department, as well as in compliance with Illinois state statutes and the applicable standards within the United States Constitution.
